

Faster documentation — your way

When it comes to automating clinical documentation, a one-size-fits-all approach just won't cut it. That's why we put you in the driver's seat, building your personal preferences into your automated notes. Solventum™ Fluency Align™ delivers both automation and provider documentation preferences, transforming clinical documentation into a seamless and efficient process. Leveraging conversational, generative and ambient artificial intelligence (AI), Solventum Fluency Align create high quality clinical notes in real time, allowing clinicians to be more present during visits.

Automation saves time as ambient AI generates clinical documentation based on your conversation with the patient.

Personalized preferences allow you to keep your unique way of structuring and phrasing notes with your individual style.

Clinical documentation with an experience that's fit for you

Feature	Benefit
Dictation detection with verbatim and summarized transcription: Offers a blend of exact dictation and AI-driven summarization	Enhances note accuracy and clinician confidence, ensuring critical details are captured appropriately
Customizable content formatting: Supports bullets, numbering, paragraph styles and more	Ensures final notes match each clinician's preferred format, improving readability and usability
Adjustable note length and detail: Offers the choice between concise or more detailed documentation	Empowers clinicians to tailor notes based on the nature of each visit and personal preference
Flexible note structure and section headings: Allows clinicians to choose preferred templates and organizational formats	Helps improve usability and satisfaction with ambient documentation by aligning with individual workflow preferences
