Solventum™ Revenue Integrity System for Prebill Review

Reduce revenue leakage from your revenue cycle

Key benefits of Solventum RIS Prebill Review

- Revenue protection: Catch coding and documentation issues at the point of care. Flag high-risk claims before submission, helping maximize reimbursement and reduce revenue leakage.

- Unified collaboration: Bring CDI, coding, billing and utilization review teams together on a single platform. Streamline communication, reduce administrative burden and foster cross-functional collaboration.

- Continuous improvement: Continuously monitor patterns in clinical and financial data, updating recommendations in near real time with machine learning. Stay ahead of payer rule changes and regulatory updates without manual intervention.

Shift revenue integrity from reactive to preventive

The Solventum Revenue Integrity System (RIS) is an AI-powered platform designed to help healthcare organizations proactively prevent claim denials, reduce revenue leakage and optimize financial performance. By integrating clinical, coding and payment data, Solventum RIS Prebill Review delivers real-time insights and actionable recommendations, transforming the revenue cycle from a reactive process to a strategic, preventive workflow.

Prebill review: Providing functionality and value

Integrated AI-driven workflow: RIS analyzes documentation and coding in real time, flagging high-risk claims and providing targeted recommendations for intervention before claims are submitted. This proactive approach shifts denial management upstream, reducing rework and administrative costs.

Real-time recommendations: Machine learning models surface actionable insights within existing workflows, guiding staff to address gaps and mitigate risks as they arise. This includes diagnosis-related group (DRG) validation, code suggestions and prompts for missing documentation.

Comprehensive reporting: Advanced dashboards link upstream clinical activities to downstream payment outcomes, enabling leaders to drill down by facility, provider or DRG. This transparency supports operational decision-making and return on investment (ROI) tracking.

Sustainability and scalability: As machine learning models retrain on local feedback, the system becomes more precise, reducing low-yield reviews and focusing resources on the most impactful cases.

Why Solventum?

Solventum is trusted by over 5,000 healthcare organizations and is recognized for its leadership in eliminating revenue cycle waste and driving value-based outcomes. By integrating AI across connected workflows, Solventum empowers teams to move from chasing denials to preventing them, delivering measurable financial gains, operational efficiency and improved patient experience.
